DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. How would you answer the question - who do you hope to become? Another way to think about it would be - as you think about the new year, what do you hope would be true about you this time next year?
2. What do you think it means for us to be "people of love?" Who is someone that you think embodies that?
3. What difference does it make for our change to be compelled by love versus some other motivation?
4. How does Christ's death and resurrection empower us to be people of love?
5. Why should it matter that we know "the old is gone and the new is come?"
6. What would a life look like that is compelled by love and not self-interest? Try to think of one specific example.
